- Instructions

4. Cut constructor paper into smaller squares; staple the construction paper pieces you have cut together and glue that little booklet of paper into the left of the blank sheet of paper
5. On a small piece of blanket paper have your child (if they are able) to write the last letters that are shared between rhyming words
6. Once the construction paper booklet has been glued to the paper, write the shared letters of the rhyming words on the blank paper (not the construction paper)
7. On the construction paper, write the beginning letter or letters-the end product should have the ability to display multiple words that rhyme together in a fun interactive booklet format
